

Meidai
Academic
Writing
Unit

Writing Is Thinking

學術論文の基本的な目的は、結論へと至る論理的ステップを提示することによって、論文の主張する結論を受け入れるよう読者を説得することである。

WRITING

名大初のライティング・ユニット
Pursuing Clear & Convincing Ideas In Writing

Open to all students, researchers and faculty members of Nagoya University

Mei-Writing Open Workshop

Title: The Language and Structure of Academic Abstracts

Most people are unable to distinguish between an academic abstract and an academic proposal. What exactly is an academic abstract? Why do we need them? What constitutes the structure of an academic abstract in English? How different are abstracts from proposals? In this workshop, we will focus on the language and structure of academic abstracts in English, as well as their uses for the respective disciplines of the humanities and social sciences and the sciences.

Date	17 July, 2013 (Wednesday)
Time	13:00-14:45
Place	S10 Nagoya University Institute of Liberal Arts and Sciences 教育教養院
Speaker	Kevin Teo Associate Professor, Institute of Liberal Arts & Sciences Department of Academic Writing Education